

At Home in these Landscapes

an evening of grassroots cinema showcasing human connections to lands and resources

Featuring global and local examples:

One Sky in Peru 20 minutes

Results of One Sky's three-year sustainability project in Peru include a 7000 hectare rainforest conservation concession held in the name of the Wachiperi tribe and a canopy walkway through the cloud forest.

Where Hope Resides

A last chance for wild salmon and people to coexist 40 minutes

This film examines the present state of the fishery on the Skeena River and the many questions it faces. From the perspective of First Nations, commercial, outfitter, environmental and government interests, it investigates the socioeconomic impact of the declining fish stocks and presents the Skeena River as an inspiration and a model of how rivers, fish and people might co-exist.

Followed by the Smithers premier of

Insights, Discussion and Q&A to follow

Presented by:

When? August 11, 7-9 pm

Where? Old Church, corner of King & 1st

Why? To support One Sky's sustainable development work in Nigeria

How Much? $10, includes popcorn!

More questions? Call 250.877.6030

In collaboration with:

